CRESENT®

FINE FURNITURE

Crafted of sustainably produced, plantation-grown solid mahogany, Berry Hill is a traditionally-styled collection with Louis Philippe and West Indies influences that work together to fit any décor, from a beach-side cottage to traditional suburban living. Design features include substantial ogee undertop moulds with hidden drawers, hand-carved bed posts, turned feet, and routed drawer fronts with inset pulls that give the drawers a subtle bas-relief effect. Beds and cases feature solid mahogany raised panels utilizing full-floating construction for stability.

The solid pin-knotty plantation mahogany woods are lightly antiqued by hand and feature a warm cinnamon finish. Tops are polished and hand-rubbed for a soft, waxy patina reminiscent of fine antiques. All case pieces feature traditional solid wood construction techniques such as English dovetails on solid mahogany drawer sides and backs, wood-framed dustproofing, full floating construction, and fitted wood backs and corner bracing for stability. Modern conveniences include a power outlet in the nightstand for lamps, clocks and cell phone charging as well as a drop-front drawer on the media dresser for AV component storage.

These features, combined with impeccable construction techniques, a commitment to sustainability and the experience of third-generation furniture makers, make Berry Hill a perfect match for today's consumer. For more images, see www.cresent.com

Cresent's Commitment to Sustainability

Cresent is proud to be one of the founding members of the Sustainable Furnishings Council (SFC). SFC is a new industry organization formed to promote sustainable practices within the home furnishings industry and raise awareness among consumers and buyers.

As a family business that manufactures home furnishings, we are aware of the threats to the environment that our industry inflicts. Our family is working to expand our sustainable practices and is committed to continuous improvement in all of our activities. Specifically, we are working with our finish suppliers to use coatings with low emissions (VOCs and VHAPs) and our lumber vendors to ensure an increasing percentage of sustainably forested timber is available for our products.

The Cresent family works to minimize our daily impact on the environment.

All of our furniture cartons contain a minimum of 20% postconsumer recycled content and are printed using soy or vegetable based inks. We recycle all of our inbound packaging waste in our distribution center and our offices have an active recycling program for office waste as well as a commitment to a tree-free approach to documents, where applicable. All of our catalogs and marketing materials specify FSC certified papers and soy or vegetable inks.
